

Abstract of the Invention

A non-pyrogenic, endotoxin-free, stroma-free, blood substitute capable of being used in humans or other mammals to provide oxygen to tissue and to deliver carbon dioxide to the lung and a process for its preparation are described.

0941005-100199